Monday, 26th of September 2005
Location: Université Paris 1-La Sorbonne, Amphithéâtre Richelieu

»Naming and measuring violence against women in Europe: What is at stake for academia and governments«

9:15 Registration
9:45 Introduction
François Héran, Director of INED

Morning session: A review of surveys conducted in Europe: background and findings
10:00 The French ENVEFF survey
Elizabeth Brown
Institut de Démographie, Université Paris 1, France
10:15 Surveying prevalence in the context of the German national action plan
Carol Hagemann-White, University of Osnabrück, Germany
10:30 Nordic surveys compared
Eva Lundgren and Jenny Westerstrand
University of Uppsala, Sweden
10:45 Coffee break
11:15 Conceptualising and measuring gendered violence: Implications from the British Crime Survey
Sylvia Walby, University of Leeds, UK
11:30 National surveys in Spain
Gerardo Meil, University of Madrid, Spain
11:45 Surveys in Eastern Europe
Florina Serbanescu and Mary Goodwin, Center for Disease Control and Prevention, Atlanta, USA
12:00 Doubts and obstacles on the way to European comparison
Maryse Jaspard, Institut de Démographie, Université Paris 1
12:20 Questions and debate
12:45 Lunch

Afternoon sessions:
Family violence, health and well-being
14:15 Issues of custody and access following violence in the home in Denmark and Britain
Marianne Hester, University of Bristol, UK
14:45 Socio-demographic explanations of violence during pregnancy
Patrizia Romito, University of Trieste, Italy
15:15 Health care of women victims of intimate partner violence
Nancy Gage-Lindner
Department of Social Welfare, Hessen, Germany
15:45 Coffee break

Vulnerable groups and violence
16:15 Violence in the life histories of young homeless people
Jean-Marie Firdion, Institut National d'Etudes Démographiques, INED, France
16:45 Strengthening diversity: good practice in delivering domestic violence services to black women and children
Ravi Thiara, University of Warwick, UK
17:15 Ethnicity and violence: Turkish-origin women in Germany and women of North African origin in France
Stephanie Condon and Monika Schröttle
INED, France and University of Bielefeld, Germany
17:45 Building a European voice on interpersonal violence
Renate Klein, University of Maine, USA/University of Osnabrück, Germany, coordinator of the European Network on Conflict, Gender and Violence
18:00 Conclusion to the day’s proceedings
Representative of the Ile-de-France regional authority
18:15 Reception in the Salons de la Sorbonne, Université de Paris 1
Tuesday, 27th of September 2005
Location: Institut National d’Etudes Démographiques (INED), 133 boulevard Davout, 75020 Paris, in the Salle Alfred Sauvy (room 111)

»The importance of context, differentiation and integration in human rights violation for women, men and children«

9:30 Opening
Carol Hagemann-White, University of Osnabrueck, Germany, Co-ordinator of CAHRV

9:40 Keynote address: Human Security for women, men and children – integrating and differentiating themes from a gender perspective
Monica McWilliams, University of Ulster, Northern Ireland

10:00 Panel 1:
Differentiation of types and levels of violence: Speakers from each sub-network of CAHRV will report on work in progress that relates to the importance of differentiating and integrating data on types and levels of violence in relation to women, men and children.
Introduction by lead discussant Ralf Puchert, Dissens e.V., Germany
Manuela Martinez, University of Valencia, Spain
Ursula Mueller, University of Bielefeld, Germany
Catherine Humphries, University of Warwick, UK
Jorgen Lorentzen, University of Oslo, Norway

10:45 Coffee Break

11:15 Panel 2:
Situational factors and violence: Measures of context, the importance of intrapersonal characteristics, re-victimisation, mobility and opportunity; the utility of a focus on situational factors in legal, policy and civic action and in prevention and promoting protective factors.
Introduction by lead discussant Corinne May-Chahal, University of Lancaster, UK

Wednesday, 28th of September 2005

»The importance of gender equality and culture in human rights violation for women, men and children«

9:30 Panel 3:
Links between gender equality and violence: Measurement, the advantages and disadvantages of promoting gender equality in legal, policy and civic action and in prevention and promoting protective factors.
Introduction by lead discussant Renate Klein, University of Maine, USA
Marianne Springer-Kremser, Medical University of Vienna, Austria
Gunilla Bjeren, Stockholm University, Centre for Gender Studies, Sweden
Rosa Logar, Austrian Women’s Shelter
Corinne May-Chahal, University of Lancaster, UK

10:45 Panel 4:
Cultures of violence and cultures of care: The impact of culture on what is measured, on understanding the roots of violence, in legal, policy and civic action and in prevention and promoting protective factors.
Introduction by Anna Kwiatkowska, Warsaw School of Psychology, Poland
Bridget Penhale, University of Hull, UK
Daniela Gloos, Social Insight, Swiss
Liz Kelly/Corinna Seith, Metropolitan University of London, UK

Plenary: Integrating work in progress and discussion of utility of a focus on gender equality and culture in actions to promote environments for human security across CAHRV

11:30 Plenary session

12:30 Buffet lunch

14:30 - 18:30 Sub-network meetings

For registration please contact:
Institut National d’Etudes Démographiques (INED)
Alice Debauche
cahrv-paris2005@ined.fr

Map of location:
Université Paris 1-La Sorbonne;
Institut de Démographie de l’Université de Paris (IDUP)
www.univ-paris1.fr/universite/campus/article55.html
Institut National d’Etudes Démographiques (INED)
www.ined.fr/institut/venir.htm
(Plan du quartier)

Information about CAHRV:
http://www.cahrv.uni-osnabrueck.de